

The Spring Equinox creates a new cycle in our lives, affecting our harmonious relationships, how people see their surroundings and how they behave. It goes back to the Legend of Baba Dochia and how the Spring was created. Baba Dochia is one of the most popular figures in Romanian mythology.

When she found out her son, Dragobete got married, she sent her new daughter-in-law to a nearby river to wash some black wool until it turns white. The wool would not change color, and the poor girl started crying. Upon seeing this, Jesus came down to Earth and offered her a red flower to wash the wool with. The girl returned to Baba Dochia with the wool as white as fresh snow, who believed that Spring has arrived, so she left with her sheep in the Carpathian Mountains, wearing nine wool coats. The weather got warmer each day, and she dropped her coats one by one. But as soon as she let go of her last coat, the weather turned bad and Baba Dochia froze on the mountain.
